Reflections from the Heart by Fr. Ivan

“She, from her poverty, has contributed all she had, her whole livelihood.” The word “behold” signifies an action whereby one draws all their energy and their attention, to see, really see without distortion or distraction that which our undivided attention has been requested to gaze upon; without judgment, comment, or rush. Jesus asks us to behold Mary. What do you see when you set your gaze upon Mary? Do you, “behold, your mother” or do you only see the mother of Jesus? To behold Mary, is to have a personal, intimate relationship with her. That is, to understand that Mary is truly the Mother of Jesus and your beloved mother, the Mother of God. We must realize, accept and rejoice in the fact that we are beloved sons and daughters of God, our Father and beloved sons and daughters of Mary, our mother. Jesus loves his mother with a great and perfect affection and Mary loves her son with her whole undivided heart, with her whole undivided body, with her whole undivided mind, with her whole undivided soul. Mary loves Jesus in her lowliness and in her joyfulness, in her poverty and in her holiness, with all her heart and with all her strength. She loves Jesus with her entire being. It is a mother’s perfect love for God and for her child. Jesus loves Mary as he loves us. That is, to the point of death, death on a cross. Jesus’ concern at the foot of the Cross is that his mother would be loved and looked after. Jesus wants you to behold, your mother, Mary. Will you spend some time in prayer with her this week at the foot of the Cross to comfort her in her great sorrow? Imagine how Mary feels at the foot of the Cross seeing her poor child, innocent of the crimes he was accused of, rejected for believing in God, mocked with unspeakable blasphemies, beaten to the point of being unrecognizable, murdered by excruciating pain and torture, then dying on a cross. Mary could use some comfort. Mary could use your undivided attention, a commitment to prayer and your loving presence. It would bring great consolation to our Mother Mary. It would bring great comfort to our Beloved Savior. Know that when Mary is asked to behold her child, she draws all her attention to you; she draws all the attention of her Son to you. Mary loves you. You are her beloved child. So behold your mother for she has already set her gaze upon you.

National Vocations Awareness Week

FATHER MATTHEW HAWKINS

Assistant Vocations Director

"Pope Benedict said, 'Are we not perhaps all afraid in some way? If we let Christ enter fully into our lives, if we open ourselves totally to Him, are we not afraid that He might take something away from us? No, if we let Christ into our lives, we lose nothing, nothing, absolutely nothing of what makes life free, beautiful and great.'"

SISTER DOROTHY SAYERS, M.P.F

Principal, Holy Family Catholic School

"So I'd go into my own room and sit there and just close the curtains and have a lovely conversation as if Jesus was sitting right next to me. And it was that relationship that has taken me through my religious life."

FATHER BENJAMIN LEHNERTZ

Assistant Vocations Director

"One of the shocking surprises of my life is the incredible joy of priestly celibacy. In Matthew 19 Jesus says that there are some who will be given the ability to sacrifice married life in order to live as a celibate for the sake of the Kingdom of Heaven. I was surprised because I thought it was only a sacrifice that would help me to serve others. It turns out that it is both. He showed me that celibacy offers me an incredible opportunity to grow into a very intimate relationship with the Holy Trinity, with Our Lady and all the saints."

NVAW is an annual week-long celebration of the Catholic Church in the United States dedicated to promoting vocations to the priesthood, diaconate, and consecrated life through prayer and education, and to renew our prayers and support for those who are considering one of these particular vocations.

THE CONFESSIONS OF ST. AUGUSTINE

Actor Leonardo DeFilippis captures the poetry and passion of Saint Augustine of Hippo (AD 354-430) in a performance that is accessible and deeply moving. The play is astonishingly relevant for our own times. Augustine struggled with promiscuity, fathered a child out-of-wedlock and dabbled in a "new age" style cult. You'll be amazed by his relentless pursuit of Truth and encouraged by the prayerful perseverance of his faithful mother, Saint Monica.

Pillars of Faith

by Fr. Stephen
Baumann

St. Charles Borromeo, Bishop – November 4th

"Father, let your Church be continually renewed and show the image of Christ in the world by being conformed to His likeness."

St. Charles Borromeo (1538-1584) lived and worked during a time of reformation and renewal following the Council of Trent. This was a time in which the needs in the Church and in society as a whole were great. The successful conclusion of the third and final sessions of the Council were largely due to his efforts as papal secretary. His concern as priest and bishop was for the good of all and his foresight convinced him of the need for holy, dedicated and learned priests and bishops, as leaders of the Church. He directed his efforts at reforms that would accomplish this, though not without opposition. His ideals are precisely what we still need today – he organized his priests into a society for personal and spiritual development and growth.

Others, like St. Francis de Sales, would follow his example. St Charles initiated a positive program of intellectual and cultural formation in an atmosphere designed to promote spiritual growth for those preparing for the priesthood. His principles for the education of seminarians and priests are valid still today. These principles have been vindicated from the time of their initiation in the post Tridentine Church to the post Vatican II Church.

Well educated in both civil and Church law, Charles Borromeo was a very pastoral priest and bishop, so much so that one biographer wrote of him: "His life is a textbook of pastoral theology for bishops." The prayer over the gifts at the Nov. 4th Mass notes that St. Charles was an example of virtue and concern for the pastoral ministry, and in the prayer after communion, we ask for the courage and strength which made St. Charles faithful in his ministry and constant in his love.

Much of his preaching was to his priests, but he also gave sound advice to others. His advice to teachers, for example, was "study diligently and apply yourself to whatever is necessary for doing the job well. Be sure you first preach by the way you live." To pastors he said: "Do not neglect the parish of your own soul; do not give yourself to others so completely that you have nothing left for yourself. You have to be mindful of your people without becoming forgetful of yourself." To his priests he constantly gave encouragement to pray and meditate "before, during, and after everything we do." He told them: "this is the way we can easily overcome the countless difficulties we have to face day after day, which after all, are part of our work. In meditation we find the strength to bring Christ to birth in ourselves and in others." (Cf. 2nd Reading, Liturgy of the Hours).

St. Charles Borromeo died in 1584 at the age of 46, at Milan, and was canonized in 1610.
