Reflections from the Heart by Fr. Ivan

"Speak, LORD, for your servant is listening." The Spiritual Exercises of Saint Ignatius of Loyola help us to listen more intently to ourselves. To listen to how we inwardly respond to the movements that occur in our thoughts, feelings and desires and how the response to these movements become how we respond to the world. And how we respond to each individual experience we face, every decision we make and every person we encounter each and every day. Listening is the key to our spiritual health and wellbeing. It is the key to unlocking the glorious freedom of the children of God and sharing in the joy God shares with each of us and obtaining the eternal happiness God desires for you. Do we listen to how our bodies speak to us? Do we listen to how our hearts encourage us, how our spirits lift us up, how our own minds can condemn us? Listening with intent and being intentional about listening makes us more aware of the voices that speak to us and influence our decisions, our encounters and even our experiences. These voices speak directly to our pain and speak directly to us during sorrow. They are speaking to us when we are consoled and encouraged and even speak to us and tell us what we should do. One voice encourages us to sin. The other voice encourages us to seek the good and to avoid doing evil. Our voice is influenced by the voice of God and the voice of the enemy depending on who we are listening to and whom we are keeping company with, depending on who we are in relationship with. God has told us one thing, to listen to his beloved Son, Jesus. The Lord speaks directly to us in prayer, in worship, in silence. The enemy speaks to us in confusion, in noise, in discouragement. Listening helps us to consider who is speaking to us and how that individual voice is influencing and affecting how we respond to others. Listen carefully to how you feel inside and how you sound outside. Listen carefully to how you respond to your spouse, your family, your children, your coworkers, your enemies, your friends. Listen carefully to yourself and being honest about how you sound and respond. When our inner voices and outer speech sound harsh, impatient, uncharitable and unkind, there is a good chance you are listening to the wrong voice. When you sound a lot like God, more like Jesus, loving, kind and gentle, then God is speaking, and his servant is listening.

The Feast of the Baptism of the Lord

By Fr. Stephen Baumann

The Feast of the Baptism of the Lord concludes the Christmas season. Baptism was an event of great significance for Jesus. It marked the beginning of his public ministry. In celebrating it, we also recall our own baptism and its importance for us. We became children of God and brothers and sisters of Jesus.

When Jesus came to his cousin John at the Jordan River, he was claiming his mission as Savior or Messiah. The Messiah was to represent the nation of Israel as a whole. In his willingness to follow his Father's will and to be a light to all he met, Jesus rectified in himself where Israel had failed. In Him there would be justice, mercy, and forgiveness for all repentant sinners – then and now.

In His role as Messiah, Jesus was baptized by John not for his own sins – for He had none – but for us. He took our sins onto Himself. The waters of the Jordan did not cleanse him, but rather he cleansed the waters of Baptism for all time to come. As he walked away from the Jordan, he began his ministry of addressing and healing the wrongs done. He did this even though it would lead to his death. It was for this commitment that his Father was so pleased with him.

The lesson for us who have been baptized into Jesus Christ and the Trinity is that we too must take responsibility for the injustices we see around us as Jesus did, even if we are not personally responsible for them. As Pope St. Paul VI reminded us, "If you want peace, work for justice." By doing so we show ourselves worthy of being called Christians, so that at the end of our lives the Father will indeed tell us what he told Jesus: "You are my beloved son or daughter. With you I am well pleased."

Jesus' baptism was not an end in itself, but rather the beginning of his mission. And so it is for us. Our baptism also entrusts us with a mission and brings meaning and purpose to our lives. In a nutshell, it teaches that our lives are about more than ourselves. We are called to the mission of loving God and neighbor and to express that in practical ways – a lifetime's work.

We celebrate our birthdays lavishly. So we should celebrate our baptismal day, because this was the day we were reborn as children of God. Every time we enter a church and sign ourselves with holy water, we remind ourselves of our baptism, and recommit ourselves to live up to it.

Coogie
THE Dumpster Cat

Christmas may be over...but thousands of animals are still in need of rescue!

"Coogie, the Dumpster Cat"

A delightful story about a kitten rescued from a Miami dumpster. Coogie is "paying it forward" now to help his fur-friends. By purchasing a copy (or more) you will be contributing to saving fur-lives.

Profits go towards helping all animals find their "fur-ever" homes!

Learn more about Coogie at Coogiedumpstercat.com and order your books today to help another desperate animal in need. At Amazon.com or bookstores nationwide.
