

Our Mission
Annunciation hearts are burning to know, love and serve God
by loving and serving others.

A leper came to Jesus and kneeling down begged him and said, "If you wish, you can make me clean." Moved with pity, he stretched out his hand, touched him, and said to him, "I do will it. Be made clean." Mark 1:40-41

Fr. Ivan was blessed to be able to complete his Certificate in Spiritual Direction and Retreat Ministry from the Institute for Priestly Formation. The training and formation was completed from Spring 2021 to Jan. of 2024.

Fr. Ivan will be leading a Nazareth Centered Retreat, open to all, that will explore our relationship with the Father and the Holy Family in the home-school of Nazareth. This will be offered in four retreat days throughout the year, with the first on Saturday, March 2nd from 9am to 1pm. More information and a signup coming next week!

Reflections from the Heart by Fr. Ivan

I said, "I confess my faults to the LORD," and you took away the guilt of my sin. Can God cover your guilt and forgive all your sins? Take a moment to consider the question and the possibility of its grace. Can God forgive you, take away your guilt, and remove all that shame?

Think and pray for a moment. Oh, I'm sorry, did you think the question was whether God could forgive all your sins and cover all your guilt; meaning whether our Lord has the power, authority and ability to forgive the effects of your harsh words, impure thoughts and selfish acts and whether God can renew you to the gracious state of Holy Baptism? We know God can, will and does forgive all our sins and covers all our guilt as experienced in the Gospel story of the prodigal son. The question can God cover your guilt and forgive your sins really means; will you let God forgive you and will you let God cover all your guilt and shame with his divine grace? It is a loving invitation to permit God, the Divine Physician, to heal the effects of your lack of concern for others, your unfaithfulness to his covenant and your disobedience to his commandments. Can our loving Savior save you through the gift of his infinite love and with the help of his divine mercy? Will you let God forgive you, wrap you in his loving, tender embrace and cover you with his kisses? We know our Almighty God can and does forgive all our sins for he washed away all our sins in and through the sacred waters of baptism and that God heals the effects of our personal sins in and through the life-giving and life-saving sacrament in the celebration of a good and holy confession. Jesus clearly and audibly can be heard from the Cross saying, "Father, forgive them, they know not what they do." Can you hear that? Once again, not can you physically or interiorly hear what Jesus said or is saying, but rather can you spend some time to consider what he said, what it means and how it relates to you? Can you spare some of your precious busy time to consider how you respond to the gracious words when the voice of the priest in the person of Christ says "go in peace your sins have been forgiven?" Jesus said it. He really meant it and means it. Your sins are forgiven and your guilt taken away. Can you believe it?

St Ansgar, Bishop – February 3rd - St. Ansgar (801-865), a ninth century Benedictine monk and bishop, was born

Pillars of Faith

By Fr. Stephen

in Amiens, France. His missionary work was in Denmark after the conversion of King Harold. He was invited also to Sweden where he remained for a time. Then, he was recalled to become the abbot of a new monastery and Archbishop of Hamburg, Germany in 831. He was named papal legate to Scandinavia, and for the next fourteen years labored there only to see all his work come to naught because of the destructive invasions of the Norsemen. He returned to his diocese of Germany in 854 and then nine years later returned to Denmark and Sweden. He experienced some success there, but the whole area lapsed into paganism after his death.

Ansgar is remembered as an extraordinary preacher, a humble and ascetical priest and as a bishop who was greatly concerned for the poor and the sick. Miracles accompanied his missionary work, but he thought little of them. He said that he would ask of God only one miracle, "that by his grace he would make of me a good man."

He was untiring in his missionary efforts and often prayed for a martyr's crown. He often endured hardships from hostile pirates and maurading tribes. His death, however, was a peaceful one and he died in Bremen, Germany, in 865.

The zeal of St. Ansgar and the many missionaries like him, both past and present, continues to be a source of inspiration for us. As they responded to the call of God, so must we. The Second Vatican Council, in the Decree on the Church's Missionary Activity, reminds us:

"Every disciple of Christ is responsible in his or her own measure for the spread of the faith, but Christ the Lord is always calling from among his followers those whom he wills, so that they may be with him and be sent by him to preach to the nations. In preaching the Gospel to the nations, the disciple must boldly proclaim the mystery of Christ and not be ashamed of the scandal of the cross. He or she must follow in the footsteps of the Master, who was gentle and humble of heart, and reveal to others that God's yoke is easy and his burden light."

St. Ansgar preached courageously, and bravely overcame difficulties, disappointments, and hardships. During all of these, he persevered to "bring the light of Christ to many nations." (Collect of Mass).
