

The Raising of Lazarus

And Jesus raised
his eyes and said,
“Father, I thank you
for hearing me.
I know that you
always hear me...”

Reflection on the Gospel

Jesus' humanity shines clearly in today's Gospel. In the face of Lazarus' death, Jesus is deeply moved by the grief around Him. The Gospel says He "became deeply distressed and troubled" and eventually "wept." The Greek word for "deeply distressed," embrimaomai, suggests a strong emotional disturbance, even indignation or anger — indicating an involuntary, visceral response from the depth of His soul. Some commentators suggest Jesus' anger wasn't directed at the people weeping but at death itself, caused by sin. As God, He saw death as a consequence of sin, never part of the Father's original plan — and from this perspective, death provoked righteous indignation and deeply troubled His human heart.

As the passage continues, Jesus' humanity is powerfully portrayed in the shortest verse in the Bible: "And Jesus wept." Saint Paul reminds us in Hebrews: "For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who has similarly been tested in every way, yet without sin" (Hebrews 4:15). Jesus' tears show us that the Holy Trinity knows human pain firsthand. The Incarnate Son allowed Himself to experience sorrow, and the Father and the Holy Spirit shared in this sorrow through Him.

Jesus' weeping uses the Greek word edakrysen — "to shed tears" or "weep silently" — personal, controlled, and full of divine compassion. In contrast, the weeping of the others is described by klaió, meaning loud wailing, a typical expression of communal mourning. Jesus' grief was neither ritualistic nor excessive; it was intimate and heartfelt.

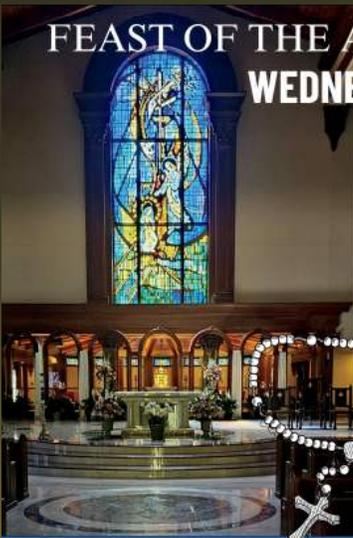

We must never forget Jesus' deep compassion and sorrow. His human heart feels the same emotions we do — He grieves when we grieve and is moved by the hold sin has on us. After feeling these emotions at Lazarus' death, Jesus "cried out in a loud voice, 'Lazarus, come out!'" (John 11:43). In our own lives, when we are trapped in sin or burdened by human weakness, we must hear Jesus calling us to freedom with the same divine authority and human passion.

The Kids Bulletin

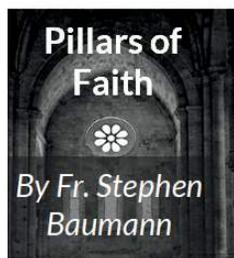

Come out!

Jesus loved His friend Lazarus very much. When Lazarus died, Jesus felt very sad. The people around Him were crying too. Jesus loved them so much that He cried with them. Even though Jesus is God, He has feelings just like us. Why did Jesus cry? Because He loves us. When we are sad, Jesus is sad too. When we hurt, He hurts too. Jesus understands how we feel.

Jesus was also upset because death is bad. God never wanted people to die. Death came into the world because of sin. That made Jesus feel angry and sad at the same time.

But Jesus did not stay sad. He walked up to the tomb where Lazarus was buried. Then He called out in a big, strong voice: "Lazarus, come out!" And Lazarus came back to life!

Jesus can do the same for us. Sometimes we do wrong things and feel stuck. But Jesus calls out to us too. He says, "Come out! Be free!" He wants to help us, just like He helped Lazarus.

St. Patrick, Bishop – March 17th

Details of St. Patrick's life are few and uncertain, though legends abound. Patrick was born in Scotland, England, or perhaps Gaul (France) in the year 385. Along with some slaves of his father, he was captured and taken to Ireland and sold as a slave. However, he escaped to Gaul and made his way back home. His preparations for priesthood seems to have been in Gaul, at Lerins. He was ordained in 417 and remained in Gaul for fifteen years. Consecrated a bishop in 432, he went to Ireland and began to preach throughout the country, with great success.

St. Patrick made himself one of the people, he lived simply, learned their language and customs, and respected their religious genius. The people, for their part, were open to him and his challenging preaching. Patrick's efforts were so successful that within a century Irish monks were christianizing Europe, and introducing what he called spiritual direction, but was really the first individual confessions, soon to become very popular. The foundation of St. Patrick's strength was a deep sense of the presence of God and his constant prayer.

St. Patrick lived with the people and ever so gently brought them to faith, challenging them to grow in knowledge and experience. Because of the island's pagan background, Patrick dealt with practical challenges, including the encouragement of widows to remain chaste, unless they remarried, and young women to dedicate their virginity to God. With St. Patrick, when one considers the enormity of the mission he undertook, with its conversion of vast numbers of people to the faith, he must have been a pretty dynamic person, and one whose holiness made an impression. The Holy Spirit multiplied and blessed his mission many times over.

While it may be legend that St. Patrick drove all the snakes out of Ireland, his simple teaching on the Trinity, using the three leaves of the shamrock was highly effective. Patrick departed the "land of saints and scholars" in the year 493.

LIFE TEEN SUMMER CAMP

JULY 27TH-AUG 1ST

CAMP COVECREST
25 Falls Drive
Tiger, GA

My Experience at Covecrest - by James Egan

A little over one year ago, I saw a page in the Church bulletin for Covecrest, a week-long summer camp meant to help high schoolers grow in faith and fellowship while spending the week doing fun activities. I instantly knew that's where I wanted to be during the summer. A week full of climbing, white water rafting and s'mores around the bonfire all while with friends sounded great.

Every day that week we'd wake up early, go to Mass, spend each day doing different activities, go to evening sessions at the end of the day, then gather as a parish and talk about what we had learned. Each day would feel completely different, and you'd never know exactly what you'd be doing until you started the day. Some days it was messy obstacle courses, and other days it was climbing while your friends kept the rope taut. For all the evening Bible sessions, I felt like I was relearning each word from every verse that was taught... (read the complete story online)
It was a wonderful week, being able to spend time with friends and getting closer to them. But I think the thing that changed the most is my heart got closer to God. Because of this, I can't wait to go again to Covecrest this summer.

We have spots for 20 teens.

Help Send Our Teens to Covecrest This Summer!

This summer, our parish teens have the opportunity to attend LifeTeen Covecrest Camp — a transformative experience of faith, community, and encounter with Christ. The cost is $850 per teen, and we don't want finances to be a barrier for any young person who feels called to go. Would you prayerfully consider making a gift to help offset the cost? Every contribution - large or small - makes a real difference in the life of a young Catholic. To donate, simply scan the QR code below or visit www.annunciationorlando.org/ltcamp.

Thank you for investing in the next generation of our faith community!
