Reflection on the Gospel

Imagine the Son of God referring to you as a dog. For most people, that would be deeply offensive. So why would Jesus do such a thing? He did so, in part, to draw forth from this woman an act of profound humility and faith. Through this moment of humiliation, Jesus invited her to rise to a heroic response, prompting Him to exclaim, "O woman, great is your faith!" He desires to do the same with each one of us.

When Jesus encountered this woman, He saw into her soul and knew the depth of her faith. He knew her suffering, her love for her daughter, and her perseverance. He also knew He would heal the girl, yet He did not do so immediately. Instead, He used what theology calls divine pedagogy—a way God teaches slowly and with purpose. Jesus used this encounter to teach His disciples—and us—about humility and unwavering faith.

The woman approaches Jesus, crying out, "Have pity on me, Lord, Son of David! My daughter is tormented by a demon." By calling Him "Son of David," she reveals her belief in Him. But Jesus appears to ignore her—not because He is uncaring, but because He knows her faith will persevere.

God sometimes allows similar experiences in our lives. We might assume that following Christ will protect us from difficulty, but God often forms His saints through trials. These trials are not signs that He has abandoned us. They can become invitations to deeper faith, greater trust, and heroic virtue.

We need only look to Jesus Himself. Though He was perfect, He endured rejection, persecution, suffering, and death. Through His suffering, Jesus conquered sin and death and showed us how to follow Him—allowing humiliation to become humility, weakness to become strength, and suffering to lead us toward holiness. In this way, God's power is made perfect in weakness (cf. 2 Corinthians 12:9).

As the conversation continues, the woman refuses to give up. Her faith and love for her daughter move her to persevere through every trial. In the end, Jesus praises her great faith and grants what she asks. Her perseverance becomes a lesson not only for the disciples who witnessed it, but for all of us who hear her story today.

What Is Grace?

We often hear the word grace - we say grace before meals, speak of being "full of grace," or pray for God to give us the grace we need. But what exactly is grace?

Grace is God's free and undeserved gift of His life and help to us. We cannot earn it. God gives us grace because He loves us and desires to draw us closer to Himself. Through grace, He heals us from sin, strengthens us to choose what is good, and helps us become the people He created us to be. Grace does not take away our freedom; God invites us to receive His grace and cooperate with it. God acts first—and then helps us respond to Him.

"Everything is grace." — St. Thérèse of Lisieux

"For by grace you have been saved through faith... it is the gift of God." — Ephesians 2:8

Answered Prayer

Sometimes we pray to Jesus, but it may feel like He does not answer us right away.

A woman in the Gospel knew what that felt like. Her daughter needed help, so she went to Jesus. She asked Him to help her, but Jesus did not answer her right away.

The woman did not give up. She trusted Jesus. She kept asking because she believed He could help her. Jesus knew what was in her heart. He saw how much she loved her daughter. He also saw her strong faith.

At last, Jesus said, "O woman, great is your faith!" Then He answered her prayer and healed her daughter.

Sometimes things are hard for us too. We may pray and wonder why God does not fix things right away. But that does not mean God has forgotten us. He is still with us.

Like the woman in the Gospel, we can keep praying, keep trusting, and stay close to Jesus.

Jesus loves a heart that does not give up.

Pillars of Faith

by Fr. Stephen Baumann

St. Sixtus II, Pope, Martyr & Companions

A letter to St. Cyprian, Bishop of Carthage, tells of the martyrdom of Pope Sixtus II, in the year 258, during the persecution of Valerian. "I must inform you that Sixtus was put to death in a catacomb on the sixth of August and four deacons with him." Sixtus had been bishop of Rome for one year. At the time he was seized and beheaded, he was celebrating the Eucharist.

In this same letter which we read in the Office of Readings, Cyprian tells of the severity of the persecution and the punishment meted out to the Christians: "The prefects in Rome are pressing this persecution zealously and without intermission to such a point that anyone brought before them is punished and his property is claimed by the treasury."

This letter of Cyprian was meant to prepare the churches in North Africa for the persecution soon to be there. "I ask you to make these facts known to the rest of the bishops, in order that by the exhortation of their pastors the brethren everywhere may be strengthened and prepared for the spiritual combat. Let all our people fix their minds not on death but rather on immortality, let them commit themselves to the Lord in complete faith and unflinching courage and make their confession with joy rather than in fear, knowing that in the contest the soldiers of God and Christ are not slain but rather win their crowns."

Such letters gave great encouragement to the Christian communities. St. Cyprian was a respected leader in the Church of North Africa. He suffered martyrdom himself on September 14, 258 a few weeks after writing of the martyrdom of St. Sixtus II and his four deacons.

Again, we ask for the grace to believe in Jesus, and for the courage to profess our faith in our life circumstances in witness to Jesus. (Cf. Collect of Mass).
