Reflection on the Gospel

Do you want to get to Heaven? Most would instinctively respond, “Yes.” But imagine an angel appearing to you today and saying, “The Most High God will be taking you to Heaven this very day.” How would you react? Would your heart leap with joy? Or would a wave of fear wash over you as you realized everything in this world would be left behind?

In truth, many struggle to look forward to Heaven with genuine longing. We may think of it from time to time, perhaps smile when recalling loved ones who have gone before us, presuming they are “in a better place.” Yet few of us live with a desire that eagerly awaits Heaven as our true home.

Today, on the Solemnity of All Saints, the Church invites us to lift our eyes to the glorious communion of saints and angels. In Heaven, they behold the Beatific Vision, gazing with awe and love upon the Most Holy Trinity. They are fulfilled. Their hearts are open, receiving God’s love in its fullness and returning it with perfect charity. This eternal exchange of love deepens their union with God in an everlasting ascent of glory.

By God’s mercy, if we are counted among the “few” who enter through the narrow gate (cf. Matthew 7:14), by walking the constricted road that leads to life, then, when this life is ended we will immediately know that every act of prayer, sacrifice, and surrender was worth it. The beatific gaze upon God will fill us with such radiant joy that all earthly attachments will dissolve. We will see clearly how foolish it was to cling to the vanities of this world and will be eternally grateful that we strived to overcome them with diligence.

Riches, possessions, honors, and status will be gone. None of it will matter. All we will carry into eternity is the love we lived—our love that was purified through suffering, tested by obedience, and offered as a sacrifice. This is divine charity, and its fruit will forever remain with us. All selfish love will be stripped away. Only what is of God will remain.

The path to Heaven challenges our natural instincts. Grace must elevate them, guiding us by divine wisdom rather than human reasoning. Today’s Gospel reveals that wisdom: The truly blessed are the poor in spirit, those who mourn, the meek, those who hunger for righteousness, the merciful, the pure of heart, the peacemakers, and those persecuted for Christ.

Reflect today on the saints in Heaven. They were not perfect on earth, but they were faithful. They allowed divine charity to take root in their hearts and persevered through trial. Read the Beatitudes slowly and ask, “Do I truly want to be counted among them?” If the answer is “Yes,” then live today—and every day—with Heaven as your only goal.

Heaven is Home

Today we celebrate All Saints Day. We remember all the saints who are with God in Heaven.

The saints were people just like us. They had hard days. They made mistakes. But they kept trying to love God and follow Jesus.

Jesus teaches us how to live so we can grow closer to God. He tells us to be kind, merciful, gentle, and loving. He asks us to trust God and care for others.

The things we have on earth will not last forever. But the love we give will always matter.

The saints kept their eyes on Heaven. We can do the same. Each day, we can ask, "What can I do today to help me grow closer to God?"

Saints

What is a saint? A saint is someone who is with God in Heaven, sharing forever in His love and joy. The Church officially recognizes certain people as saints through canonization and holds up their lives as examples of faith and holiness. But there are also countless saints in Heaven whose names we may never know. On the Solemnity of All Saints, we celebrate them all!

The wonderful news is that we are all called to become saints. Sainthood is not reserved for a special few. Every one of us is invited to grow closer to God through prayer, love, forgiveness, and service to others. As the Catechism reminds us, "All Christians in any state or walk of life are called to the fullness of Christian life and to the perfection of charity"

Pillars of Faith

by Fr. Stephen Baumann

Solemnity of All Saints

What prophets have said may be forgotten, but what saints have done is remembered. Today, we honor all the saints, including the lesser-known ones in our own families. Their lives remind us that we too are called to holiness.

God gives us the grace we need through the Sacraments, especially the Eucharist and Reconciliation. He helps us become merciful, pure of heart, makers of peace, and people who hunger for what is good and true.

In Revelation, the holy ones wash their robes in the blood of the Lamb and make them white. This image symbolizes purity, holiness, and victory over sin. Through Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, we are cleansed and saved. We may also be called to suffer and sacrifice for Christ, but He promises to lead us to eternal life.

The First Letter of John reminds us that through Baptism we are already God's children. We share in His life through grace now, and in Heaven we will see Him face to face and share fully in His glory.

Today's Gospel gives us the Beatitudes as the path to holiness. Jesus calls us to live with humility, mercy, purity of heart, and peace, choosing His values over those of the world.

The saints were ordinary people who lived extraordinary lives. They were not perfect, but they cooperated with God's grace and loved Him above all things. Their example reminds us that holiness is possible for us too. By using the gifts God has given us and faithfully following Christ, we may one day become "saints among the saints in the halls of heaven."
